DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims 1-16 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed on 4/5/04. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancelation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 17-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Admitted Prior Art (APA) in view of Johnescu et al. and Plagge et al.

4. The APA guide pins for optical connectors as being discussed and shown in figures 36-38 of the background of the present application contain substantially all the limitations as being recited in the claims of the instant invention. However, it is noted that in the APA, adhesives are used to secure the guide pins to their respective connector housing and not by interference fittings, wherein an outer diameter of the fixing portion is larger than an outer diameter of a remaining portion of the guide pin or wherein the fixing portion has a plurality of engagement protrusions configured to engage an inner peripheral surface of the guide pin hole.

Johnescu et al. shows guide pin or post 6 secured to connector housing by an interference fitting, wherein an outer diameter of the fixing portion 10 is larger than an outer diameter of a remaining portion of the guide pin. Plagge et al. shows that it is known to use a plurality of engagement protrusions 34 (figure 3c) configured to engage an inner peripheral surface to retain his pins 32 to it connector housing.

Therefore, it would have obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the APA guide pins with fixing portions, wherein an outer diameter of the fixing portion is larger than an outer diameter of a remaining portion of the guide pin or wherein the fixing portion has a plurality of engagement protrusions configured to engage an inner peripheral surface of the guide pin hole in view of the teachings of Johnescu et al. and Plagge et al. Providing the above retaining features for the fixing portions of the APA guide pins would allow the pins to be secured to their respective connector housing by a mechanical interference fit and eliminate the need for adhesive which would have to be applied in a separate step or operation.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yamazaki et al. is further cited to show the use of guide pins in optical connectors.
